U.S. and Britain Reach Accord On Persian Oil

By George Lichtheim
POST Correspondent

LONDON, Monday. — The U.S. and British governments have agreed on the measures to be taken to meet the oil nationalization threat in Persia, it is reported here. Following some sharp official exchanges during the past fortnight, there is now a likelihood that the two governments will act jointly in future.

This in itself is important news for until quite recently the Americans tended to blame the British for what had happened, while London suspected American encouragement of Persian intransigence. It is now believed that Mr. Acheson and Sir Oliver Franks have pulled together what looked like a very ugly situation.

Britain, it is understood, will propose the formation of a new managing company on which the Persian government will be strongly represented. Instead of the present lease expiring in 1933 — by which time Persia's known oil reserves will long have disappeared — the Persians will be offered a much shorter lease enabling them to acquire the Company's assets while there is still some oil in the ground. If this offer is rejected, as in the present state of Persian opinion it probably will be, Washington will make it known that it fully supports the British viewpoint. One important straw in the wind: the cancellation of American steel shipments to the Anglo-Iranian oil wells has already been announced. Although officially described as a measure to save steel its significance will not be lost upon the Persians.

Anger at U.S.

These steps come none too soon. There has been growing alarm here over the Persian situation and increasing anger at the American attitude. Saturday's "Economist" bluntly challenged Washington to drop its assumed indifference to Britain's difficulties on pain of losing British support in Korea. On a different level, Mr. Crossman, writing in a widely-circulated Sunday paper, informed his millions of readers that the American oil companies were intruding to divide the British out of Iran. There has certainly been some indirect encouragement to the Persians to pursue their present tactics, although those responsible are more likely to have been individual American oilmen rather than Boards of Companies. These manoeuvres are now expected to end.

Mr. Crossman incidentally censured Mr. Morrison on his supposed failure to obtain U.S. support. Britain in his view ought to resist the Persian position almost unaided, though he does not suggest how this may be done. It is recognized here that the terms now being proposed have been offered to the Persians five years ago when Mr. Bevin was postulating a Soviet pact on his great schemes for improving the Middle East, the present crisis would not have arisen.

Stricter U.K. Embargo On China Hinted

LONDON, Monday (AP). — Sir Hartley Shawcross, President of the Board of Trade, hinted today that Britain is ready to cut off all exports of strategic materials to China whenever the U.N. so decides.

But he did not announce whether Britain was backing the U.N. proposals in the U.N. for economic sanctions against China.

Defending the Labour Government against assertions that it has continued to ship war goods to the Peking government despite the fighting in Korea, Sir Hartley told the House of Commons that Britain has shipped China $4,900,000 worth of goods in the last 15 months. He also disclosed that Britain bought goods valued at $2,700,000 from the Peking regime in the first quarter of this year.

Marshall Denies Split on Korea

WASHINGTON, Monday (AP). — Secretary of Defense George Marshall said today there has been "no disagreement" between President Truman, himself and the Joint Chiefs of Staff over the conduct of the Korean war. He also said that Gen. MacArthur's Korean war proposals would risk "an all-out war with Russia," but stressed that the Joint Chiefs of Staff want the economic blockade of China intensified by cutting off material going there via Hong Kong.

Truman Warning On Lone Fight in Asia

WASHINGTON, Monday (AP). — President Truman answered General MacArthur in a speech tonight calling for continued unity among the Allies against Communism in Asia as well as in Europe.

"If we go it alone in Asia," the President said, "we may destroy that unity of free nations against aggression. Our Allies are nearer to Russia than we are. They are in far greater danger. If we act without regard to the danger that faces them they may act without regard to the dangers we face."

Atom Bomb Danger

It was Mr. Truman's first formal speech since Gen. MacArthur appeared before the Senate Committee inquiry into foreign policy and the Korean war.

The President warned that there is the real danger of Russian atomic bomb "death-blow" attacks on American cities if the Korean fighting erupts into a third World War.

"The threat of atomic warfare is one which we must face no matter how much we dislike it. We can never afford to forget that the terrible destruction of cities and of civilization as we know it is a real possibility. We must prepare for it," he declared.

Referring to the Senate debate in which Gen. Marshall had earlier answered Gen. MacArthur, the President said: "A lot of people are looking at this debate as just a political fight. But the stakes are a lot more important than the outcome of an election. We must act on the assumption that the Russians do have atomic bombs. They have plans that could drop atomic bombs upon our cities."

Limited Action On Korean Front

TOKYO, Monday (Reuters). — The uneasy lull in the Korean fighting, which began when the Communist Spring offensive was halted last week, continued today except for two South Korean limited actions.

On the west coast sector, South Korean infantries, supported by Allied tanks, attacked Communist outposts northwest of Seoul. In the east South Koreans struck at Chinese defences southeast of Inje, where sporadic fighting has been going on for some days.

Both of these limited offensives were supported by heavy gunfire and close air support. Allied aircraft took off in great numbers, despite overcast skies.

Chinese Using New Type of Jet Plane

TOKYO, Monday (Reuters). — The Communists were believed to be using a new type of jet aircraft in Korea, Far East Air Force H.Q. said today. The H.Q. said three planes, presumably new type jets, were yesterday attacking a lone American light bomber which was returning from a night attack on northwest Korea. The jets followed the bomber for 20 minutes, then broke away. No damage was claimed by either side.

U.S. Airborne Units Arrive in Iceland

WASHINGTON, Monday (UP). — A State Department official said today that 200 U.S. troops have landed in Iceland to assure the security of the country following a bilateral agreement. He said the agreement was within the framework of the Atlantic Pact.

The troops were identified as airborne units.

Cables in Brief

ARENSBURG, Monday (AP). — French troops sweeping the Korean peninsula of Communist forces are reported to have destroyed 1,500 persons suspected of aiding the Communist Vietnamese forces.

Congressmen Pledge Support For Israel Grant

KNOXVILLE, Monday. — Substantial bi-partisan support of Israel's request for a $150m. grant-in-aid was promised here last night by representatives Gore (Democrat) and Baker (Republican) at a meeting of 200 Jewish leaders which was addressed by Mr. Ben Gurion. The Prime Minister was in Knoxville on a tour of the Tennessee Valley Authority projects. Applause greeted Baker's announcement that he had been authorized by House Minority Leader Joseph Martin to pledge full Republican assistance.

Governor Gordon Browning of Tennessee, who introduced Mr. Ben Gurion, was joined by both Congressmen in praising Israel's fight for independence.

The Prime Minister told the gathering that "we would not have been able to defeat the Arab armies if we had not been fighting for something higher — liberation of oppressed Jews in Iraq, Rumania and other countries."

Commenting on his tour of the T.V.A. installations, he said he would take back to Israel the "great message" which all people should learn from the T.V.A. — "of what can be one with by humanity and scientific achievement."

He added amid laughter and cheers "We are going to compete with you."

The conversation was friendly. The speaker followed a dinner at the hotel and then left for Washington today after visiting the dam at Muscle Shoals, Alabama. It was reported that he was extremely tired and suffering from a bad cold, and was being strapped to the back of his seat to prevent his falling asleep.

Tomorrow, he will leave Washington for New York, where he will speak at a bond drive rally at Madison Square Garden on Thursday night. (UP, INA)

U.K. Ambassador Sees Mossadeq

TEHRAN, Monday. — The British Ambassador, Sir Francis Baring, today paid his second visit within a week to Premier Mossadeq in connection with the oil nationalization plan.

According to an informed source he gave the Premier a second message from the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Herbert Morrison, asking what Iran planned to do to enforce the law taking over the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

The conversation was friendly. The informant added: "A Ministry of Foreign Affairs spokesman said that Ambassador Sobhy in London last night delivered his government's reply to the first message from Mr. Morrison sent last week. No details of the diplomatic exchanges have been published."

Federan Islam, the fanatical Moslem movement, today carried out the assassination of Premier Ali Razmara, a close friend of the new Premier, Dr. Mohammed Mossadeq, in following in the path of "former Iranian government."

A decision on Saturday by the Public Prosecutor to ask the courts to order the execution of Razmara's assassin. (AP, UP)

Vienna Socialist Ties Conservative

VIENNA, Monday (Reuters). — Austrians will make a second attempt at choosing a new President later this month when a Socialist and a Conservative will contest the post in a straight fight. The two men are Dr. Theodor Körner, 78, Socialist Mayor of Vienna, and Dr. Heinrich Gleissner, 58, Peoples Party (Conservative) candidate.

They were the principal contestants in yesterday's elections when nearly 4,500,000 people cast their votes for six presidential candidates in the first ballot of its kind in Austria's history. The man chosen to succeed Dr. Karl Renner, who died on New Year's Eve, will be the fifth President of the Republic but the first to be elected by universal secret ballot.

The voting showed that the Peoples Party has lost quite considerably in proportion to its votes in October 1949 and the Socialists have gained slightly. The Independent Breiter backed by the League of Independents seems to have gained at the expense of the Peoples Party. The Communists about held their ground.

The final official result of the vote was:

	Percent of vote
Dr. Körner	39.1
Dr. Gleissner	38.1
Dr. Renner	12.4
Dr. Theodor Körner	8.5
Dr. Heinrich Gleissner	2.9

Sharett Asks U.N. Council To Indict Syria for Aggression

Syrian Forces Shaken By Losses; Border Zone Quiet

TIBERIAS, Monday. — The Syrian forces today appeared to be nursing their wounds after their unsuccessful assaults on the Israeli positions south of Tel el-Muteila yesterday. There are indications that their losses were severe and that the morale of the Syrian soldiers has been shaken severely for today they did not fire a single shot, and were not even seen. It is not impossible that yesterday's failure has discouraged the Syrian forces up to the top ranks.

The only shooting during the past 24 hours occurred at Ein Gev, which was the target for a brief burst of automatic fire from Nukeib at 2:30 this morning. Buildings were hit, among them the children's quarters, but no one was hurt.

Numerous shots were also fired at an Israeli fishing boat on Lake Huleh from military positions across the Syrian border north of Dadara at 2 o'clock this afternoon. There were no casualties.

The Acting U.N. Chief of Staff, Colonel Bennett L. De Ridder has forwarded several reports on the Israel-Syrian situation to the Security Council, a U.N. spokesman in Jerusalem declared yesterday.

"It cannot be ruled out that the Security Council will act on the matter," he said.

Observers' Handicap
The spokesman also warned that "information received from U.N. Observers could be highly misleading" because of their limited vantage point that permits them only to see the action of one side. An Observer might issue certain information that may be contradicted by an Observer on the other side.

"He stressed this point in noting that only U.N. headquarters was in a position to assess the facts of the situation. This was constantly being done, the spokesman said."

It is reported from Tel Aviv that two more bodies of Syrian regular soldiers were found today on the slope of the Israel height recaptured yesterday morning, close to the westernmost point of the demilitarized zone north of Lake Kinneret.

They were found between boulders. Beside one was a Chateau-light machine gun. Both were wearing battle dress and steel helmets.

UNICEF Receives $25,000 from Israel

PARIS, Monday. — The contribution by Israel of an additional $25,000 to UNICEF and a request by the Israel Government for continuation of the UNICEF emergency feeding programme in Israel was announced by the Child Welfare Fund officials here.

UNICEF headquarters stressed that Israel's new contribution together with $50,000 previously contributed was an important gesture, "since that country's economy is weighted down by a steady flow of 25-30,000 immigrants each month."

200 KILLED IN EARTHQUAKE

SAN SALVADOR, Monday (AP). — At least 200 persons were reported killed in an earthquake today in the cities of Jucapaca and Chinameca. Damage was also reported in other towns.

Red Cross supplies were sent to the stricken areas.

U.S. AND EGYPT SIGN POINT FOUR PACT

WASHINGTON, Monday (AP). — The U.S. and Egypt today signed a Point Four aid agreement. The State Department said that under its terms the U.S. will provide immediately technical experts to advise on agricultural and other problems.

Nazis Make Gains In Saxon Elections

FRANKFURT, Monday (UP). — The Social Democratic Party won a majority in the Lower Saxony State Assembly but observers agreed that the moral victory in yesterday's election went to the neo-Nazi Socialist Reich Party.

Elections for the new 145-member assembly constituted the first major test at the polls of the strength of Nazism in postwar Germany.

Three Powers Consult On Threat to Peace in M.E.

Israel yesterday formally requested the Security Council to place on its agenda an indictment of the Syrian government for a "flagrant violation of the armistice agreement" and for "armed aggression against Israel outside the demilitarized zone." The Israel-Syria dispute is scheduled to be discussed by the Council today. It was believed that Major-General William E. Riley, the U.N. Chief of Staff, would attend the session.

A detailed report of the events along the Israel-Syria border was sent yesterday to the President of the Security Council by the Foreign Minister, Mr. Moshe Sharett. The communication covered the events which occurred in specific parts of the border zone, the firing by Syrians on Israeli civilians engaged in the Huleh drainage scheme as well as on settlements and police posts in the area.

The Security Council has also received a third report from the Acting U.N. Chief of Staff, Colonel B. L. de Ridder. The contents of the report have not yet been released.

Eban Requests Meetings

On Sunday, Mr. A. Eban, Israel's delegate to the U.N., urged the Council's President to call an urgent meeting to deal with "a clear act of aggression" by Syrian forces against Israel. Israel also held Syria responsible for the irregular forces "which have taken up positions in the demilitarized zone and beyond."

Mr. Eban told the Council that Israel will continue "to defend itself vigorously in accordance with Article 51 of the Charter and to make all efforts to repulse the Syrian forces, which are using the demilitarized zone as a base for aggression against Israel territory. Israel personnel and Israeli interests."

The text of Mr. Sharett's communication to the Security Council President follows:

1. On May 2nd a large body of Arabs crossed from the demilitarized zone on the Western bank of the Jordan north of the Sea of Galilee into undemilitarized Israeli territory west of the zone. A small Israeli patrol, sent to reconnoitre the area, found itself under fire from the Arabs who appeared all to be armed. The patrol retreated, suffering three killed on the spot and one wounded who subsequently died.

2. This body of armed Arabs which, according to our reliable information, was reinforced by regular Syrian army personnel, took up a position in one of the heights of Tel el Muteila range wholly outside of the demilitarized zone.

3. On the evening of May 2nd an Israeli Army unit dislodged the occupants from the above height, whereupon these retreated southwards and occupied a position at the westernmost point of the triangular demilitarized zone, the base of which is on the Jordan River. This Arab force thus found itself partly within and partly outside the demilitarized zone. Throughout May 3rd, 4th and 5th the exchange of fire continued between the aggressors and the Israeli Army units, the latter using rifles and automatics and receiving Syrian mortar support. Further authentic information confirmed the presence of regular Syrian troops among the aggressors.

4. On May 4th, a further Arab armed unit which according to reports and observation again contained regular Syrian army elements appeared on the height north of an Israeli stronghold, well outside of the demilitarized zone, two hundred yards northeast of our position on Tel el Muteila.

5. Throughout the third and fourth May no United Nations observer appeared on the scene from the Israeli side. In view of this default the Israeli Government invited the United States and British Military Attaches to visit the area, and witness the proceedings which they did on May 3rd and 4th.

6. On May 3rd the Acting Chief of Staff of the United Nations Truce Supervision Organization, Colonel Bennett de Ridder, sent a message to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Congress Again Put Ahead; Aug. 14 Set

LONDON, Monday. — The Zionist Congress will open on Tuesday, August 14, instead of on July 31, as had been previously planned, according to a cable received by Mr. S. S. Levenberg, the Jewish Agency representative.

He said the Jewish Agency Executive had decided to delay the opening of the Congress because of the Knesset elections on July 30. It was the general view that it would be undesirable for the Congress to meet in an election atmosphere. Congress elections will be held on May 29.

(In Jerusalem, no official information was available on the postponement, although Jewish Agency circles unofficially confirmed the London report.)

At the Cinema

A Connecticut Yankee at King Arthur's Court (Tamar, Tel Aviv) represents Hollywood's third version of the famous Mark Twain yarn. Previously produced as a silent film in 1921 and as a talkie (with Will Rogers) in 1937, this version adds the pride of the 'third epoch' of the flicks. Technicolor, although colour adds new attractions, one again has the feeling that the story is too special in character to make a successful movie. In addition, the numerous anachronisms, effective in the reading, are unduly transparent on the screen. Bing Crosby in the title role seems not to have the right talents to make the plot more amusing; his phlegmatic nonchalance was never very hilarious. Str. Cedric Hardwicke, on the other hand, is excellent as King Arthur.

Room Trouble

'The Treasure' (Migdalor) is an inspired Polish comedy about the newlyweds who can't find a room and take shelter in the basement of a bombed house which they share with half a dozen other lodgers. The story could have taken place in Haifa; as a matter of fact, we should and could have produced such a film long ago. In this case, however, the skyline, complete with ruins and the reconstruction in the foreground, the film ends happily with the couple finding 'shikun' after a ridiculous hunt for an imaginary treasure. The only shortcoming of this extremely well-produced film, in the German style, is the finale in which the villains are exposed as some sort of 'capitalists' and dealers in black dollars.

Third Bergman Film

The dated Swedish Ingrid Bergman vehicle (1937) 'The Magician's Night' and the dull Rosalind-Bergman affair, 'Stormy', both seen in Jerusalem recently, were an appropriate introduction to the Alfred Hitchcock-Bergman enterprise 'Under Capricorn' (Zion, Jerusalem), an insipid Technicolor melodrama with an adequate score by Richard Addinsell. The 13-reel piece is about an Irish couple deported to Australia in 1830. The acting of Bergman and Joseph Cotten in the leads is stereotyped. Michael Wilding is refined as a gallant member of the family.

Rokach Statement

'Davar' (Migdalor) and 'Al Hamishmar' (Magan) discuss what they term Mayor Rokach's 'hostile' announcement of the week that the Tel Aviv Municipality, under his instructions, has recourse to the black market. (The paper reports that Mr. Rokach, at the Council meeting on Sunday night, denied having made this statement; the previous week, 'Davar' reported the denial; the paper suggests that the incident cannot be passed over in silence.)

'Al Hamishmar' more explicitly, urges the removal of Mr. Rokach from his office. The responsibility of the Municipal Council to combat the black market is no less than the Government's, and Rokach is sabotaging this fight and 'betraying his duty', the paper says.

Big Jerusalem Sports Day

Jerusalem's celebrations during May Day week culminated in a big sports day at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday with Hiskadri youth from the four movements competing in an athletic competition and basketball tournament, with the local Hapoel side (seniors) gaining a creditable win at soccer over their clubmates from Haifa.

Third Ramatkal Semi-Final Necessary

Hahadrasa avenged their defeat in the first leg game of their Ramatkal (Chief of Staff) Cup matches against the Israel Navy by beating the sailors team 3-0 last week. As the first Navy victory was accompanied by a score of 4-1, the goal average for the two games was even at four-all, necessitating a third meeting to decide which side shall move on in the competition. This encounter will take place on the Israel Air Force ground on May 14. The final game for the military soccer trophy is scheduled a week later, on May 21.

I believe that this solution would not be at all unwelcome to Franco's exiled opponents. How great the clandestine influence of these politicians is inside Spain one cannot be sure. It is certain, for instance, that "the Barcelona affair" was spontaneously organized and not directed from outside but there are signs of efficient organization in the latest strikes in San Sebastian and Bilbao.

Such demonstrations, peaceful and orderly, and therefore perhaps, the more dangerous to the regime, may well spread. In that case, if their organized supporters abroad act with intelligence and discretion they will have wide support throughout the country. The temper of the people at this moment is against violence but — outside the small privileged classes — all in favour of change.

GOVERNMENT SERVICE

To The Editor of THE POST

Sir, — This morning I have an opportunity of availing myself for the first time since the State came into being, of the services of one of the Government Offices. I required the address of a friend, who, I knew, had moved to Tel Aviv but whose address was unknown to me. I applied to the Registration Office and was given the address with commendable speed, within two or three minutes. For this spectacular service our Government charged me 150 pruta.

Are we to be surprised workmen charge exorbitant rates for tightening screws for sewing on a button?

Yours, etc.,

RESIGNATION

To the Editor of The FIRST:

Sir—My name has appeared in your paper on several occasions in connection with the English-speaking section of the General Zionist Party.

As a result of Mayor I. R. Rokach's statement to the effect that he had authorized black market purchases for hospital buildings (no matter how worthy the cause may be) I cannot see my way clear to associate myself in any way with a political party which is represented by such men as Mayor Rokach.

I have therefore resigned from the party and want to state this in a public and an interesting manner. He has habitually makes about 20 to 30 pulls of each subject which he sells at moderate prices since he believes that the artist "should work for the people as well." He also exhibits a number of caricatures, showing something of the formalization of coloured works, but very strong and solidly executed.

In addition to his serigraphs (which could be well used to decorate Israel Legation and consulates abroad) the artist paints in oil and fresco and teaches art to youngsters in Kfar Menahem and in the last connection Rohr's emphasis on good craftsmanship should make him an instructor of value. One of his serigraphs will be reproduced. The Post on Friday.

DAY OF JUDGMENT

The THIRTIETH OF JULY has been set as the day of the elections for the Second Knesset. It will be a day of judgment for the ruling party, responsible as it is for the failures, the crises and the commotions which have beggared the State and drained its economic powers of resistance. The voter will give his verdict on the régime of constraint of conscience, of discrimination, of waste and favouritism which have undermined the public conscience of the country.

The free citizen of Israel will sit in judgment upon the party caste which secures its rule over the country by means of a secret party police and party censorship.

In vain do the Mapai Government and its satellites attempt to justify inflation and the collapse of the foundations of a sound national economy by shifting the blame to the needs of mass immigration and the Ingathering of the Exiles.

Even a far greater immigration could be absorbed productively if the régime of the implementation of socialism were replaced by one of implementing Zionism on the basis of economic and political liberalism.

The existence of the State demands a change of regime.

The welfare of the nation demands a change of government.

The people who want to live as free citizens in their own country, will make the thirtieth of July
